MEMBERS of Macarthur's Muslim community came together for Eid ul-Fitr, a celebration of the end of Ramadan at Koshigaya Park, Campbelltown, on Wednesday.

About 65 people attended the event which signifies the breaking of a month's fasting. Macarthur Diversity Services Initiative (MDSI) generalist settlement worker Sana Al-Ahmar said the event brought new and existing residents together for a celebration of their culture.

"We want people new to the area to meet others and make friends," she said.

"People come here looking for peace and harmony and this is a way to help them find that."

Ms Al-Ahmar said MDSI held several events in the year and encouraged people of all backgrounds to come along.

"We have another big event celebrating the Orthodox Easter as there are a lot of Egyptian Christians in the area," she said.

"We'd love to see people from different backgrounds come and meet with others to learn more about each other."
